Trap Shooting and Pheasant Hunt

We started the day with a tune-up at the trap range. We are testing out adaptive equipment, shooting prototypes from the Colorado School of Mines, and the students are anxious to try them out. Everyone will have the same amount of time shooting some clays.

At noon, we headed to the Valhalla Hunt Clubhouse for lunch, where we were treated to pheasant casserole and some delicious side dishes. After lunch, we headed up to the tall grass for a pheasant hunt. Gun dogs and hunters, all excited to flush some birds into the sky and hopefully some into the vest.

At the end of the day, we managed to bring a few birds home, and equally as important, everyone had a great day outdoors in the sun. A big thanks to Valhalla Hunt Club and staff, and all the volunteers who made this outing possible.
